Prassble: User Guide

Prassble v0.5

Preface: What Is This Project?

This aims to be a beautiful coloured L^AT_EX template for everyone to enjoy, for taking notes, writing a book, and more.

But there are so many L^AT_EX templates available online already, why another? This started as a personal project to revise my L^AT_EX setup, to make it more convenient and hassle free, as well as to improve the aesthetics of my documents. Over time, I refined this template to what it is today and wanted everyone to be able to enjoy its use; naturally, I'm releasing it under the LPPL 1.3 ☞. (Moreover, coloured templates seem unfortunately rare?)

I have learnt a bit more about L^AT_EX programming over the course of this project, but I'm still a mere amateur. So, while feedback is greatly appreciated, please don't be too harsh on me when you spot some abominable code — I try to write decent T_EX and update it when I find out bad practices I engage in.
